JOHN HOWETT, A. WEST, MANAGER

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1914.

"Sisey" Adair, the rough house owner that used to be, Times have surely changed.

This is no time to take chances. To vote for John Doe on the general assumption that he is a well-meaning sort of chap is to vote for Tammany. The Tammany voter will be sold solid on a program of fielding. Unless the other vote is concentrated on the men running as specific and outspoken opponents of the "big mutt" gang, Tammany will win.

Alderman Clarke says the police authorities have been spending the secret service money in keeping detectives on his trail. That may or may not be. From some of the things the alderman had said the money could not be better spent.

Tammany has two chances to gain control of the city for next year. One is to elect Tammany's own man, and the other is to elect pledged candidates will get elected who have not sufficient sharpness and experience to know when Tammany is using them. The Tammany's only safe life is to vote for the men who know Tammany can't be got from the drop of the hat.

The Tammany candidate for mayor has been attacking the ministers of the city. That is entirely in keeping, and the assault should regard the assault as testimony. From the stand point of the equality of principles, the people who have regarded worth having will think more of them for the enemies they have made. A minister of the gospel who had the approval of the group of the lighting and power men of Edmonton a wide open town would need to wear a mask to hide his bluster.

One gentleman hailed the election of Mr. Short as a victory for the administration as a triumph of democracy on the ground that previous councils had turned down petitions from the ratepayers. This was before the time when ratepayers of the city humbly petitioned the present year's council to permit a judicial investigation into the appalling development of commercialized prostitution in the city. Most of the citizens own sons, brothers or other, but in one case, instead of a scheme being tried in a city where ratepayers have as a principle mortgaged their property to realize the utilities normally possessed by the city, Galveston, home of the effective commission system, only water, sewer and lighting systems. St. John, N. B., about which much has been said, owns nothing but the telegraph wires and telephone lines.

In the following table the name of the utility is followed by figures showing how many of the electing commission cities own the system supplying this service:

MILITARY SECRETARY TO DUKES

London, Dec. 8.—Major Stanton, military secretary to the Duke of Connaught, in his letter to the Duke, states:

NINE MEN KILLED IN SIEGE EXPLOSION.

Siege, Dec. 8.—Nine men were killed and five others seriously injured in the Diamond Match Company explosion. Six were in the carriage descending the stairs. One of them dropped a stick of dynamite that exploded, tearing off his hands and fingers. He did not work for the city, it was as well as the rest of the crew. The chief of the mine, the manager, was not present. The damage at the bottom of the shaft is the least of the mine.

Which is 'Joe'?

Alderman Clarke says he is afraid of being arrested. A man who threatens to resort to "the unwritten law" should have reason to anticipate something of the kind.

Tammany, whose administration this year has been associated with vice conditions never before seen in the city, is inviting the women to rally round a mayoralty candidate for whom it was not willing to assume responsibility. That is adding insult to injury.

The committee nominated to lead the campaign for an electric commission compiled a volume of facts from the records of all cities under a protective system. It is significant that from Galveston, Texas, home of the system, comes only one puff—from the town clerk, who, of course, had to puff or lose his job.

It is notable that the city attorney of Galveston, Texas, is opposed to electing commissioners for specific departments, but is most anxious that they be chosen to the board without reference to the position any particular man is occupying, leaving it to the commissioners to divide up the departmental duties as they see fit. All Galveston hopes or aims to get is a board of capable men as city directors—not a committee of inspired experts. In the end the whole scheme amounts to more than the voters select to manage their affairs. And that cannot be automatically decided for us by any system of government. It rests with ourselves.

The City of Edmonton owns its power plant, street railway system, street light, waterworks, sewer system, telephone system, cemetery, market and garbage destruction plants. Those whose property is responsible for the same are responsible for the same. The city has a well developed, but not too many, ways to try experiments in new and improved schemes of city management. Before any system can be recommended to the ratepayers, it must be submitted to the public, and another, or with any proper regard for their interests, it must be shown that the system has been tried out in a municipal ownership city. Most of the citizens own some interest, or other, but in one case, instead of a scheme being tried in a city where ratepayers have as a principle mortgaged their property to realize the utilities normally possessed by the city, Galveston, home of the effective commission system, only water, sewer and lighting systems. THE LAW ON GAMBLING AND LIQUOR SELLING

The Commercial Club gambling case, before Justice Magistrate Maxie Brown, and admitted to bail, was adjourned and had been carried on before that date, but nothing regular has been regular on a ratepayers basis.

The cost of club membership was $2.50 for six months.

Tammany, whose administration this year has been associated with vice conditions never before seen in the city, is inviting the women to rally round a mayoralty candidate for whom it was not willing to assume responsibility. That is adding insult to injury.

The committee nominated to lead the campaign for an electric commission compiled a volume of facts from the records of all cities under a protective system.

W.M. REA, M.A.,
Candidate for Public School Trustee
Edmonton South

Six years of experience as School Trustee, prominent in public life, and fully qualified to be admitted to the Board of Trustees. Is this for the best interest and welfare of our boys and girls? Is it for the increase of efficiency and welfare? If these questions can be answered in the affirmative I pledge my support.

I stand for supervised play grounds, an extension of technical training, well paid teachers, and a broad-based economic business administration.

Faith for better schools.

BUSINESS MEN NOT WANTED SAYS ADAIR

told me that he was trying to prevent graft. The only other time I saw him was at the election of the year, when he said that he did not want my assistance. I am sorry to say that Mr. McNamara was asking for election for two weeks ago, and he has not been elected to now. The elections must remember, however, that the election of the year was an election of the whole administration during which time Mr. McNamara was elected to the mayor's chair, and he voted for the city.

Mr. Stevenson said he was asking for election as alderman for the short time because he wanted to make a good start. If Mr. East were elected, they would create all the opposition in the city, and he would have been consistent in his attitude with regard to the city.

W. C. McArthur said he had had executive, financial and business experience, and could give up his time to the work, but said the time was not right to be elected, and not now for Pickering.

S. W. Williamson said he stood for election, but there was any way in which to get it.

Mr. Campbell spoke for Wm. Ross, candidate for school trustee. He said Mr. Ross was principal of the high school, and was a man who had great educational ability.

Mr. Campbell suggested a change in the charter, so that a commissioner could get five thousand dollars per annum, and a salary of $1000 per month for the county court.

Mr. Stevenson said he had been a member of the board since amalgamation, and previous to that was a member of the school board of the old board for many years. He appealed to the voters.

A. M. McDonald thought the city should adopt a motto and mottoes, and that it was time to do it, and that it was as well to help make the mottoes as to whom they voted for.

Candidates should have foresight, intelligent men should be chosen, and never men in Edmonton who would disgrace them.

L. Gibbs, candidate for school trust, had nothing to say.

McCloskey School Meeting.

A. M. McDonald, the first of the local candidates to speak at the McCloskey school, said an effort was being made to line him up with Mr. Stevenson, "but I am not deceived," said he. "I am not going to be a tool in the hands of any man."

M. V. Felton spoke for James Ramsey, and was severely heckled. Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Campbell and Mr. Ross also spoke for Mr. McDonald. This speech was received with great interest, as to whom they voted for.

COAL VERSUS GAS

IF YOU WANT PROOF that natural gas is a failure go to Indiana and see the scores of factories closed down on account of the gas petering out, after millions of dollars have been invested. What advantage would Edmonton have by discarding the steady supply of the best domestic coal on earth and entertain a very doubtful substitute, thereby throwing out of employment hundreds of miners and teamsters?

The laboring man has been a kind of fiddle played upon by demagogues for the past six years, and what has he gained?

A raise in his water rates, in his telephone rate, and raised to 5c straight for a ride in the street cars and now he is asked to vote for cheap gas on the say-so of the same man who has played him for a sucker, and vote himself out of a job.

The Coal Market

On Government Avenue and C.N.R. tracks is meeting all competition, not only for the time being, but indefinitely.

Eddie Collins' Sale Price Is a New Baseball Record

Eddie Collins May Take Management of White Sox

Connie's Most Recent Acquisition May Supplant James Callahan—Later Reports Say Collins' Salary is to be $12,000 Per Year For Five Years—His $8 Salary Ranks With Those of Tyron Cobb, Tris Speaker and John McGraw

By Bullock Leased Wire

CHEAP DEAL.—A despatch from New York says:

"The high bidder when President Chas A. Connies of the White Sox asked him to bid on Eddie Collins, the Athletic second basemen, has been named as Eddie Collins, the Athletics second basemen, the White Sox having offered $12,000 a year. Collins may be added to the management."

The bid was to involve an ex-penitentiary of $110,000.

"The officials of both clubs refuse to give any details in terms of the deal, but it is understood that the sum of Collins involved in great financial transactions than any other ever entered in major league baseball. As far as the Athletics are concerned, he was varred on the inside works of the game. Connies' offer of $12,000 a year is the choice of two players out of five which he named."

"The price of the transaction in baseball during the past few seasons which involved large amounts of money has been exceeded by the sum of $110,000 seen in the Connie's transaction. The Red Sox last season was signed for $16,000. The Cubbs of Detroit have offered $15,000, the biggest deal in the game over a single player, and the Indians have a purchase of Marty O'Toole from the minors for $22,000 for the 1915 season."

"In Philadelphia when Connie Mack was offered $12,000 for Eddie Collins, he said he would like to have all over $20,000 of the purchase price. Connies refuses to say who the five players named were, but it is understood that two of them are satisfactory to Mack, one of them being Harry Hooper.

"Connies' bid on Eddie Collins, the Athletics second basemen, was accepted by the White Sox a few weeks ago, and the coast cities securing likely clubs in the north. The new club in New Orleans is a front runner, but since the bid was adjusted in California, the Northern City is the most likely to be the 25-second home to be staged."

Connies' bid is to involve an ex-penitentiary of $110,000.

INTERMEDIATES WILL OPEN NEXT WEDNESDAY EVE

Four Teams Practiced at the South Side Park and Showed up Well

The south side park was the rendezvous for hockey last night, four teams in uniform, and if all went well, the first Saturday night game will be played Saturday evening.

The intermediates are shown their first week of practice, the league opening next week. The open- ing game will be on Saturday, Dec. 13, day, but Huskers and Varsity will play on the ice on the 12th.

It is expected that the 12th will be the day of the opening.
